Jennifer studied at The University of British Columbia and The Emily Carr University of Art & Design, receiving a degree in graphic design in 1997.

Her artwork is focused on the urban landscape, combining aspects of photography, printmaking and painting. Her work has been included in exhibitions across Canada and can be found in numerous private and corporate collections. Jennifer lives and works in Sechelt, British Columbia.

“The city is at equal times serene and chaotic; beautiful in complexity, surprising in intensity. Inspired by observing, wandering, imagining and remembering, my artwork is a record of my travels and thoughts. I am fascinated by a reflected view and the intersection of inside and out. The city is always changing, always renewing itself and this persisting fascination remains the focus of my art.”
